Europe and the Unemployed

Germany, with her well-organized system of labor exchanges, is bringing the manless job and the jobless man together. Likewise England, with her more recently established chain of labor exchanges, is acquiring a fairly definite knowledge of the number of jobs available; of their nature and their location; of the number of men out of work, or the kind of work that they can perform. Not only is this information published, but, England is advancing the transportation of the jobless man to the manless job. Likewise other foreign countries have provided systems of insurance against unemployment.

Denmark has worked out a very successful system of the contributory basis, the members of the union, the community, and the state contributing to the fund. This plan is now beyond the experimental stage and has been developed according to scientific principles. Similar progress has been made looking toward the regularization of employment in certain so-called seasonal industries. In England, one of the most irregular of occupations, that of the longshoreman, has been converted into a fairly regular employment. Some progress in this direction has been made in the United States—John A. Kingsbury in American Review of Reviews.

FOUND GUILTY BY CONVICTS.

[By Latest Mail]

NEW YORK, May 27.—By a court of his fellow prisoners a convict in Sing Sing prison yesterday was found guilty of having stolen six pounds of cooked meat from the mess room, and Warden Glancy, acting upon the recommendations of the judges, fined the thief 360 marks, which means that he must serve four months in addition to his minimum sentence.

This is the first time in many years it is said, that a convict court has been called together at Sing Sing. For some time there have been complaints among the prisoners against what they term the severity of the punishments prescribed by the warden for infractions of prison rules. Recalling these criticisms, Mr. Glancy called the court to decide the case.

When the accused prisoner said he had been "framed," the court ordered him to put on his coat with the meat in it after it had been weighed. "Do you mean to tell this court that you did not know you had six and a half pounds of meat under your coat?" the presiding judge asked.

"I certainly did not."

The court retired to another room and in a few minutes returned with a verdict of guilty and asked the warden to inflict the severest penalty, as the man had stolen meat, thus depriving other prisoners of food.

TOO TALENTED.

"Where is that barber who used to have the end chair?" asked the customer.

"We had to let him go," replied the boss. "He had too much talent."

"Whaddy ya mean—talent?" asked the customer.

"He got so he illustrated his shaves with cuts when he was shaving people," explained the boss.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Some woman haters are floorwalkers in department stores.

Most people have good memories—except in regard to the favors done them.
